Finally, YDKJ gets a 1990's Teen Game Show Makeover. It's HeadRush Time! And best of all, instead of using Screws, you get to use Dentures to bite your opponents by Pressing "Spacebar" rather than the "S Key".

You can thank me later once you get this Wild & Crazy Teen Game Show.. Why did I buy this?. The YDKJ for the kids. I don't like the animations or avatars. Still classic humor.. Compared to the previous entries of You Don't Know Jack, Headrush is host to a few changes that mark it as a pivotal shift in the game series. Firstly, there is no longer an option to choose between a seven or twenty-one question game. Every game is locked into a ten question game before heading to the final round. Speaking of that, the very name of the final round is different from previous entries; here it is Headrush, whereas before and after it is Jack Attack. Despite having a unique title, it does not focus on a particular area of interest. The most that can be said regarding its theme is that it might be geared toward a more teenaged audience, complete with animated segues between questions. Overall, this could be called the black sheep of the general YDKJ games. Once again, the comedy is the element that ties all the general trivia together, making a good experience for individuals and parties alike. Unlike the more specified titles like Movies and Sports, I'd say this is worth a purchase on its own, although the Classic Pack is the better deal.. Contains some avatars and animation since the first game, but the jingles are gone :(

Not bad. Still very US-centric. Still 800x600.

This one is the best, out of playing all the you dont know jack, Headrush, is easily ths best, the questions, gameplay, extra side questions, are just slightly better than the rest.. The one jack game i'd say that has the most.. custom effort put within it. While it dosen't have our god cookie masterson, the humor is top notch and there's a bunch of custom cutscenes and sequences that make this really genuine, and a time capsule. Even with that said, most questions aren't terribly out of date, which makes me confliced between marking this or volume 4 as my favorite of the 90's jack games.. Not originally labelled as a You Don't Know Jack game, Head Rush was meant for a younger audience. The questions are much more simple than regular YDKJ games (which planet is closest to the sun? REALLY?), but you've still got a basic YDKJ game here,\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665jokes and all. Play this one with people who are really bad at trivia. At least they can say "man, I knew that one!". Out of all the gamesin the YDKJ Classic Pack, this game is the best. Yes, the Jack Attack is called the Head Rush for no reason, and the screws are replaces with Chatters, but the questions are fun to answer. Get it now. You'll love it.. Love this game!. Okay, you got me. I do not know Jack Headrush.. IT WON'T CLOSE HELP ME. It's ok. Clearly aimed at 90s teens, but there are some amusing moments.
